EDUCATION

The Nebraska Constitution requires the Legislature “to provide for the free instruction in the common schools of this state of all persons between the ages of five and twenty-one years.” Attendance is compulsory for children ages 7 through 16 years of age.

Besides grade and high school education provided by the state’s school districts, a network of two-year community colleges offer vocational technical education, two-year academic programs and community service programs. Nebraska has state colleges in Chadron, Peru and Wayne. The University of Nebraska has campuses in Lincoln, Omaha, Kearney and Curtis.

Nebraska also has private schools for all educational levels and postsecondary trade schools. Exempt schooling is an option for parents with children at elementary and secondary levels.

President: Hank M. Bounds

The University of Nebraska, a state-supported institution, was chartered at Lincoln in 1869 as a land-grant college. The university is governed by a Board of Regents composed of eight voting members elected on a nonpartisan basis and four nonvoting student members, each representing a campus.¹

Each of the university's four campuses is led by a chancellor responsible to the president. The university is composed of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, the University of Nebraska at Omaha, the University of Nebraska Medical Center and the University of Nebraska at Kearney. UNL includes the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources. The Nebraska College of Technical Agriculture in Curtis operates under the authority of the Board of Regents and is administered by the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln (UNL) is Nebraska's state university and land-grant university. When the university was chartered in 1869, the Legislature subscribed to the federal government's Morrill or Land-Grant College Act, which committed the university to include instruction in agriculture, mechanic arts and military tactics, besides a liberal arts and sciences academic program.

In the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education, UNL is included in the category of Doctoral Universities: Highest Research Activity. UNL is a community of creators and co-creators, where hard work and real experiences prepare students not just to change the world, but to change with it. Nebraska faculty and staff are dedicated to helping students get the most out of college, develop their strengths and get the preparation they need to be nimble and successful in an ever-changing world.

The university's missions are teaching, research and public service. Approximately 25,000 students matriculate through its nine colleges: Agricultural Sciences and Natural Resources, Architecture, Arts and Sciences, Business, Education and Human Sciences, Engineering, Hixson-Lied Fine and Performing Arts, Journalism and Mass Communications and Law.

A new curriculum, Achievement-Centered Education, launched in 2009, ensures graduates are competent in writing, communications and mathematics; have knowledge of diverse peoples and cultures and of the natural and physical world; understand ethics and social responsibilities; and are able to integrate these abilities to adapt to a changing world. Among UNL's signature undergraduate programs are the Jeffrey S. Raikes School of Computer Science and Management, the UNL Honors Program and the Undergraduate Creative Activities and Research Experiences program.

UNL students participate in comprehensive programs of research as well as scholarly and creative activities. UNL offers 175 bachelor's degree programs, 71 master's degree programs and 46 doctoral degree programs. At the professional level, Nebraska has four doctoral and three master's degree programs. Nebraska also offers two education specialist degrees, three educator certifications, 36 graduate certificates and three law certificates.

UNL's colleges and other university facilities are on two campuses in Lincoln and at other locations throughout the state. UNL's City Campus is just north of Lincoln's downtown business district, and East Campus is about two miles northeast of City Campus. UNL's Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, from its headquarters on East Campus, extends the university's services to all Nebraskans through its statewide research and extension programs in agriculture and home economics. The Nebraska College of Technical Agriculture in Curtis is a division of IANR.²

In 2010, UNL acquired 249 acres that formerly hosted the Nebraska State Fair to create the Nebraska Innovation Campus. The land is contiguous to the university's city campus. The Nebraska Innovation Campus is a public/private research and technology development center meant to attract business and industry interested in leveraging university research.

Agricultural research and extension centers are located across the state and Nebraska counties receive county or area extension services. District and state specialists provide leadership for programs in agriculture, home economics and family living, 4-H youth and community development.

Other university facilities include the 9,500-acre Agricultural Research and Development Center near Mead; the Gudmundsen Sandhills Research Center, a 12,800-acre beef cattle, range and forage studies center on a ranch northeast of Whitman; the Nine-Mile Prairie, a virgin prairie northwest of Lincoln; and the Cedar Point Biological Station near Ogallala, used for biological science research and instruction.

UNL is a comprehensive research university that provides students the opportunity to work with faculty who are leaders in their disciplines. Leading research programs include agriculture, climate and drought, digital humanities, energy, food safety, high-intensity lasers, plant science and genetics, materials science, nanotechnology, natural resources, redox biology, transportation, virology and water. These diverse research strengths help UNL expand knowledge to address state and national problems. In 2010, a $50 million pledge from the Robert B. Daugherty Foundation established the Robert B. Daugherty Water for Food Institute, where scientists and others will work to find solutions to the problem of limited water resources and the challenge of a growing world population. A 2011 gift from Omaha philanthropist Susie Buffett established the Buffett Early Childhood Institute to transform child development and education.

UNL also serves the state through cultural, educational and technical outreach programs. City Campus is home to the Sheldon Museum of Art, the Lied Center for Performing Arts and the University of Nebraska State Museum. The Sheldon Museum of Art has one of the nation's best collections of 20th century American art and also features a sculpture garden with works by more than 30 artists including Claes Oldenburg, Mark di Suvero, Richard Serra and David Smith. The Lied Center, opened in 1989, showcases major regional, national and international events.

The University of Nebraska State Museum has an outstanding collection of fossil mammals and is world-renowned for its Elephant Hall, home of Archie, an ancient mammoth whose skeleton is thought to be the largest on display in the world. The museum houses galleries of Nebraska wildlife, zoology, geology and anthropology and the Mueller Planetarium. The museum also operates Ashfall Fossil Beds State Historical Park near Royal, Neb., and Trailside Museum of Natural History at Fort Robinson State Park.

In spring 2008, UNL opened the International Quilt Study Center and Museum. It houses the largest public collection of historic quilts from around the world, attracting researchers and quilt lovers to its galleries, research laboratories and digital galleries.

The Christlieb Collection of Western Art is part of UNL's Center for Great Plains Studies. Students and faculty in the School of Music, the Johnny Carson School of Theatre and Film and the Department of Art and Art History present or create performing and fine arts that enhance cultural life. UNL also is home base for The Nebraska Repertory Theatre, Nebraska's only professional live theatre. Film buffs and historians make use of the Mary Riepma Ross Media Arts Center. The University of Nebraska Press also is at UNL.

The university provides enrichment programs for elementary and secondary students through activities such as annual Math Days, annual Foreign Language Fair and the College of Engineering's annual E-Week. The university also sponsors lectures and other public programs including the series of E.J. Faulkner and Lewis E. Harris lectures, the new Heuermann lectures as well as the E.N. Thompson Forum on World Issues lecture series, all of which bring distinguished speakers from around the world to Lincoln.

UNL works to commercialize the products of its research to enhance Nebraska's economy. Major centers have been established at UNL to help Nebraska businesses and industries. The Food Processing Center in the Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources operates through cooperation among the state, university and private sector. This center provides technical services to new and established industries and helps develop new products and processes. The Industrial Agricultural Products Center assists companies in developing and commercializing bio-based products and processing techniques, primarily focused on biopolymers, biochemical, biofuels and biopower. The Nebraska Center for Entrepreneurship in the College of Business and the Engler Agribusiness Entrepreneurship Center in the College of Agricultural Sciences and Natural Resources offer students the chance to develop their entrepreneurial skills. The Buros Center for Testing in the College of Education and Human Sciences publishes scholarly reviews of tests and test-related products and publishes the Mental Measurements Yearbook and Data Base.

The George W. Beadle Center for Genetics and Biomaterials Research houses laboratories for research and development in biotechnology, biochemistry, biological materials and related fields.

UNL's Barkley Memorial Center is recognized nationally for its teaching and research programs and for the center's work in communication augmentation and rehabilitation for people with speech and hearing disorders. NET, formerly Nebraska Educational Telecommunications, operates NET Television and NET Radio from its headquarters at UNL.

Recent international activities include partnerships with several Chinese universities and the establishment of a Confucius Institute to promote the study of Chinese language and culture. UNL also is the lead scientific institution in the international Antarctic drilling project called ANDRILL. UNL scientists are studying ways to stop the transmission of HIV between mothers and infants in Africa and have, for more than 30 years, worked to improve the food supply in Africa, Central America and Eurasia through the International Sorghum and Millet Collaborative Research Support Program.

UNL faculty are leading a collaboration among Big Ten and Ivy League institutions to study the effects of head injuries in sports.

Love Library on UNL's City Campus is the state's major research library and the flagship of UNL's University Libraries, which hold more than 3 million volumes available statewide through interlibrary loan. The libraries are extensively involved in digital research and other new technologies.

The university has alumni in all 50 states and more than 40 foreign countries and has conferred nearly 300,000 degrees since its founding.

UNL also is home to more than 20 men's and women's athletic programs. Nicknamed "Cornhuskers," or "the Huskers," these teams have a tradition of national prominence in athletics. In 2011, UNL joined the Big Ten athletics conference and its academic affiliate, the Big Ten Academic Alliance. In addition to five national championships in football, Husker teams have won eight national titles in men's gymnastics, three women's indoor track and field titles, and five women's volleyball titles. Husker athletes also are known for their academic achievements. Since 1952, UNL has had more academic all-Americans than any other school in the nation.

Nebraska College of Technical Agriculture

Campus: 404 E. 7th St., Curtis, NE 69025, phone (308) 367-4124, toll-free phone (800) 3-CURTIS, website — www.ncta.unl.edu

Dean: Ron Rosati

The Nebraska College of Technical Agriculture in Curtis is governed by the Board of Regents and is part of the NU system. The two-year college grants associate of applied science degrees and certificates. NCTA also offers associate of science transfer degrees as well as concurrent enrollment and continuing education opportunities for nontraditional students. NCTA is accredited by the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools and the American Veterinary Medical Association.

The college enrolls over 350 students and offers majors in agribusiness management systems, agriculture production systems, horticulture systems and veterinary technology systems. Students receiving degrees and certificates are prepared for careers in agriculture and related fields or for continued study at four-year institutions, such as the UNL College of Agricultural Sciences and Natural Resources.

University of Nebraska at Kearney

Campus: 905 W. 25th St., Kearney, NE 68849, phone (308) 865-8441, toll-free phone (800) 532-7639, website — www.unk.edu

Chancellor: Douglas A. Kristensen

The University of Nebraska at Kearney was established in 1903 and became part of the university system on July 1, 1991, by action of the 1989 Legislature. Previously known as Kearney State College, UNK is a public, residential university that focuses on the undergraduate experience.

UNK offers more than 170 academic majors and 20 pre-professional programs, with an enrollment of nearly 7,000 students. Students come to UNK from 91 of the 93 Nebraska counties, all 50 states and more than 50 foreign countries.

Classes are offered within the College of Business and Technology, College of Education and College of Arts and Sciences. With a new University of Nebraska Medical Center Health Science Education Complex that opened in 2015, pre-med and allied health professions majors have increased opportunities for education and practical experience on the UNK campus.

The university is recognized for high retention and graduation rates, small class size and student-to-faculty ratio, value, accessibility and alumni support. In addition, the campus has been included in U.S. News & World Report's Top 15 Midwest Public Universities ranking for several consecutive years.

UNK's undergraduate research program is a national model. Campus programs support students working one-on-one with professors to conduct original research and creative projects.

UNK is accredited by the Higher Learning Commission, one of six regional accrediting organizations for degree-granting postsecondary institutions in the United States.

University of Nebraska Medical Center

Campus: 985230 Nebraska Medical Center, Omaha, NE 68198-5230, phone (402) 559-4000, website — www.unmc.edu

Chancellor: Jeffrey P. Gold, M.D.

The University of Nebraska Medical Center's (UNMC) history dates back to 1869, when it was chartered, and 1881, when Nebraska's first medical college opened. Reorganized and renamed the Omaha Medical College the following year, the school became affiliated with the University of Nebraska in 1902. After the restructuring of the University of Nebraska in 1968, the Board of Regents consolidated the university's major healthcare programs under UNMC.

UNMC is the state's only public academic health science center. Its award-winning educational programs have trained more health professionals practicing in Nebraska than any other institution. Of the more than 3,900 students at UNMC, 77 percent are Nebraska residents.

Accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, UNMC is recognized nationally and internationally as a leader in patient care, research, education and community outreach. Together with its clinical partner, Nebraska Medicine, UNMC is one of the country's leading centers in biomedical technology, bioterrorism preparedness, cancer, cardiovascular diseases, genetics, neurodegenerative diseases, transplant biology and other areas.

UNMC is home to the Colleges of Dentistry, Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy, Public Health and Allied Health Professions, as well as the Eppley Institute for Cancer Research and the Munroe-Meyer Institute for Genetics and Rehabilitation. Students also study as part of the University of Nebraska Graduate College. UNMC's pharmacy, physical therapy, physician assistant, primary care and public health programs consistently are ranked among the top in the country by U.S. News & World Report.

UNMC has a $4.2 billion annual economic impact on the state and provides outreach to all Nebraskans through cancer screenings, pediatric behavioral health clinics and active recruitment of students to practice in rural, underserved areas. Academic programs are offered on campuses in Omaha, Lincoln, Kearney, Scottsbluff and Norfolk.

UNMC's research funding from external sources exceeds $135 million annually and has created thousands of highly skilled jobs in the state. Investigators conduct research in areas relating to national security and defense as part of the University-Affiliated Research Center, which is housed in the University of Nebraska National Strategic Research Institute at UNMC.

University of Nebraska at Omaha

Chancellor: Jeffrey P. Gold

Located in the heart of Omaha, the University of Nebraska at Omaha (UNO) is a premier metropolitan university. Since its inception in 1908, UNO has been firmly anchored in the community, forging partnerships with business, education, government, arts and civic organizations. UNO offers an academically rigorous experience to a diverse student body of over 15,000 students.

With global reach and vision, UNO is large enough to provide the opportunities students seek, yet with student to faculty ratios of 17:1 (undergraduate) and 13:1 (graduate), personal enough to provide the mentorship they need to achieve academic excellence, creativity and engaged learning at competitive tuition rates.

Academic emphasis is placed on the following priority areas: STEM, early childhood, sustainability, global engagement and doctoral/research. UNO's six colleges are dedicated to providing rigorous undergraduate and graduate academic programs, taught by faculty who are national or international experts in their fields. All of UNO's colleges offer unique opportunities for undergraduate and graduate research and hands-on experiences that are critical to a competitive global marketplace. Colleges include: Arts and Sciences; Business Administration; Communication, Fine Arts, and Media; Education; Information Science and Technology; and Public Affairs and Community Service.

Campus has grown significantly in the last decade, with the addition of the College of Business Administration's Mammel Hall, the Biomechanics Research Building, the Barbara Weitz Community Engagement Center, Scott Crossing student housing and Baxter Arena, a home for UNO Athletics and venue for community events.

Students have the opportunity to be involved on campus in more than 120 student groups and organizations. UNO student athletes compete in 15 men's and women's Division I sports. Student research opportunities are cultivated through the Office of Research and Creative Activity, with more than 200 undergraduate and graduate students regularly presenting at its annual Student Research and Creative Activity Fair.

UNO is committed to and engaged with the city of Omaha, allowing students unique hands-on learning opportunities, internships, service learning, applied research and other collaborative activities that enhance time in the classroom.

UNO is recognized by U.S. News and World report as having one of the top 20 online bachelor's programs and nationally ranked graduate programs; recognized as the top public four-year university for military friendliness by Military Times; the first Nebraska school in the Clinton Global Initiative University global research network; listed on the President's Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll since the inception of the award; and receives millions of research dollars from national funding agencies including National Institutes of Health, U.S. Department of Defense, National Science Foundation and NASA.

UNO is accredited by the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

Nebraska State College System

Nebraska's state colleges were established in 1867 when Nebraska achieved statehood. Peru State College became Nebraska's first public postsecondary institution. The Legislature provided for three additional teacher education schools (Normal Schools) at Kearney in 1903, Wayne in 1910 and Chadron in 1911. In 1963, the Legislature designated these schools as Chadron State College, Kearney State College, Peru State College and Wayne State College. Kearney State College became part of the University of Nebraska system in 1991.

The three state colleges are governed by a constitutional board, known as the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State College System.³

Chadron State College

President: Randy Rhine

The 1909 Legislature provided for a new higher education institution in northwest Nebraska. The Board of Education of State Normal Schools selected Chadron as the location of its fourth institution in January 1910. The school opened in June 1911.

Chadron State has evolved into a comprehensive college with a wide range of programs. It is the only four-year and graduate degree-granting college in western Nebraska and is fully accredited by the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools and subject-oriented accrediting agencies.

The college offers undergraduate programs in more than 50 majors or endorsements and has numerous professional studies options. Many preprofessional programs in the health sciences are available, including the Rural Health Opportunities Program, conducted jointly with the University of Nebraska Medical Center, and the High Plains Health Opportunities Program, offered with Creighton University in Omaha. The college also participates in the Rural Law Opportunities Program, which is conducted jointly with the University of Nebraska College of Law in Lincoln.

Chadron State confers the following advanced degrees: master of arts in education, master of business administration, master of education and master of science in organizational management.

Approximately 3,000 students are enrolled at Chadron State. On-campus housing is available in six residence halls or a family apartment complex. The 281-acre campus includes 24 buildings, five of which are listed in the National Register of Historic Places.

Chadron State has long been a pioneer of distance education. Many courses and programs are available over the Internet. Four graduate and six undergraduate degree options are available online. A large number of courses and workshops are offered during the summer.

In 2002, the college renovated its former library into the Mari Sandoz High Plains Heritage Center, which pays tribute to the author and includes exhibits on the development of the region. Laboratory and research facilities are available in seven classroom buildings and the King Library. From 2013 to 2016, over $30 million in new construction was completed on the campus, including the Rangeland Complex, the Chicoine Event Center and three Eagle Ridge housing units.

The conferencing office facilitates many activities on campus, including group gatherings, youth camps and contests, professional association meetings and state and national workshops.

The college serves as a regional center for the arts, humanities and economic development. The Galaxy Series, which sponsors exhibits, concerts and presentations by nationally and internationally known performers, is among the cultural opportunities available.

Chadron State's intercollegiate athletic teams participate in the NCAA Division II and belong to the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference. The college also has a rodeo team that has produced several national champions in the past decade.

There are more than 40 student clubs and organizations on campus.

Peru State College

Campus: P.O. Box 10, Peru, NE 68421, phone (402) 872-3815, fax (402) 872-2375, website — www.peru.edu

President: Daniel Hanson

Peru State College was established as Peru Normal School in 1860 under a charter granted by the territorial Legislature. The school opened in 1866 as Mt. Vernon Seminary. In 1867, the Legislature accepted the school as a gift from the Board of Trustees and it was renamed the Nebraska State Normal School. The school was the first college or university in Nebraska and the third teacher training institution west of the Missouri River.

Until 1905, Peru Normal School was the only state college. In 1921, the Legislature made normal schools four-year colleges and authorized the granting of bachelor of arts, bachelor of science and bachelor of fine arts degrees in education. The school was known as the Nebraska State Teachers College at Peru. In 1949, the Legislature authorized liberal arts degrees. In 1963, the Legislature changed the college's name to Peru State College.

Teacher education, business and criminal justice are the largest programs at Peru State College, including a graduate-level teacher education program. The college also offers preprofessional programs and participates in the Rural Health Opportunities Program conducted jointly with the University of Nebraska Medical Center. The administration of PSC includes the School of Arts and Sciences, the School of Professional Studies and the School of Education. All programs are accredited by the HLC of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

Peru State College offers coursework throughout its 19-county service area in southeastern Nebraska. Distance learning technology and online coursework make up a growing portion of the approximately 2,600 students served by the college.

Peru State College is governed by the Board of Trustees of the Nebraska State College System.

Wayne State College

Campus: 1111 Main St., Wayne, NE 68787, phone (402) 375-7000, fax (402) 375-7204, website — www.wsc.edu

President: Marysz Rames

Wayne State College is a four-year school that offers a variety of degrees, including bachelor of arts, bachelor of science, master of business administration, master of science in education and education specialist in school administration. The college also offers preprofessional programs and participates in the Rural Health Opportunities Program, which is conducted jointly with the University of Nebraska Medical Center, and the Rural Law Opportunities Program, which is conducted jointly with the University of Nebraska College of Law in Lincoln.

Students select from areas of study in four schools: the School of Arts and Humanities, the School of Business and Technology, the School of Education and Counseling and the School of Natural and Social Sciences. The college's continuing education program offers undergraduate and graduate courses at various locations in northeast Nebraska.

The College Center in South Sioux City is a unique higher education partnership between Wayne State College and Northeast Community College. The partnership allows students to take all of the necessary classes at the College Center to earn certificates, diplomas and associate, bachelor's and master's degrees in a variety of areas including elementary education, business administration and criminal justice. In addition to classrooms, laboratories and staff and faculty offices, the $12 million facility features study areas, meeting and conference rooms, a community meeting room, bookstore and a student center with computers, printers, copiers and other resources. The 39,600 square-foot building opened for classes in March 2011.

Wayne State College has about 3,400 students. The college's 128-acre campus encompasses the Northeast Nebraska Arboretum and Nature Center and includes 22 major buildings. All programs are accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools and the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education.

Wayne State was founded by educator James M. Pile in 1891 as a private college known as the Nebraska Normal College. The Legislature authorized purchase of the college in 1909, and it opened as a state normal school in September 1910, offering two-year programs in teacher education.

The 1921 Legislature added "Teachers College" to the normal school name and authorized the granting of bachelor of arts in education degrees. The 1949 Legislature dropped normal school from the name to create the Nebraska State Teachers College at Wayne. At the same time, it granted authority to offer bachelor of arts degrees in liberal arts. The graduate program leading to a master's degree was authorized in 1955, and in 1963, the Legislature changed the college's name to Wayne State College. The education specialist in school administration and master of business administration degrees were approved by the State College Board of Trustees in 1981 and 1991, respectively.

Community College System

A statewide system of locally governed community colleges was created in 1971 when the Legislature combined all public two-year schools in Nebraska. Five junior colleges (Fairbury, McCook, Nebraska Western at Scottsbluff, Platte at Columbus and Northeast Nebraska Technical College at Norfolk), five area vocational technical schools (Omaha, Lincoln, Central Nebraska at Hastings, Mid-Plains at North Platte and Northeast at Norfolk) and two state schools (Nebraska Technical at Milford and Western Nebraska at Sidney) formed the Nebraska Technical Community College Areas. In an effort to serve citizens and employers, each college area is served by multiple campuses and extended campus sites.

Control over financing of the state's community colleges is vested in area boards of governors. The colleges are financed by local property taxes, which are levied in the area by each board, state general fund appropriations and tuition and fees set by each area board.

Nebraska statutes list four role and mission priorities for community colleges:

- applied technology and occupational education
- transfer education
- public service to include customized occupational training for local businesses, adult continuing education and developmental education
- applied research

Hastings Campus (founded in 1966) with the Columbus Campus (founded in 1969). Central administration offices were established in Grand Island in 1974, and the Grand Island Campus opened two years later.

The college offers 33 career and technical education programs with a focus on degree, diploma and certificate programs requiring two years or less to complete. The college also offers an academic transfer program for students who want to complete the first two years of a bachelor's degree before transferring to a four-year college or university. Transfer graduates can earn either an associate of arts or associate of science degree.

In addition to the three campuses, the college operates centers in Holdrege, Kearney, Lexington and Ord and serves 25 counties in central Nebraska. It provides training and development for businesses, industries and other organizations and offers degrees, diplomas, certificates and more than 250 online courses. Students can complete all courses needed to earn an associate of arts or associate of science degree through online learning.

Adult Education serves the community by offering free classes in literacy, GED and English as a second language to anyone age 16 or older who is not in school.

President: Michael Oltrogge

In 1973, the American Satellite Community College was organized as a branch of Northeast Technical Community College to provide postsecondary educational programs on the three Indian reservations in Nebraska. In June of 1981, the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools approved the college for accreditation at the associate degree granting level. The institution was granted a charter by each of the three Nebraska Indian tribes. A board of trustees comprising three members from each tribe was appointed by the individual tribal councils to govern the college. To reflect its independent status, the board renamed the institution the Nebraska Indian Community College. NICC was designated by federal legislation as a land grant institution in 1994.

Today, NICC serves the Omaha Tribe of Nebraska at the Macy Campus and the Santee Sioux Nation at the Santee Campus. It also maintains a campus site in downtown South Sioux City, Nebraska. NICC remains accredited by the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools. The current charter is held by the Umo^{ho} (Omaha) and Isanti (Santee Dakota) Tribes.

NICC offers both vocational/technical and academic transfer programs. The college has 150 students. It awards associate of arts degrees in business administration, business entrepreneurship, early childhood education, general liberal arts, human services, Native American studies and para-educator/pre-teacher education. NICC also offers an associate of science degree in general studies and a certificate program and associate of applied science degree in carpentry.

BROADCASTING STATIONS

Nebraska has 159 radio stations, including 27 noncommercial stations. In June 1988, the Nebraska Educational Telecommunications Commission assumed possession of studio and transmitter equipment for public radio station KUCV-FM in Lincoln, the originating station for a nine-station Nebraska Public Radio Network.⁵

Nebraska has 32 television stations.⁶ Of these, nine are noncommercial statewide public television stations.
